Details: This will be our troop's first service project on the Ice Age Trail. For his Eagle project, ASPL Ben Arneberg is heading up a team of Scouts and adults in the community to clear a new section of the trail near Cornell.

This section is part of the effort to link the existing trail with Brunet Island State Park.

We don't need these permission slips ahead of time, but please bring them with you on the workday, in case someone gets hurt and needs medical care. We hope to grill burgers and hot dogs for lunch (food will be provided for all workers). You can also join us for the biweekly Men's Breakfast if you want; just show up at church at 7:30 for a hot breakfast and a short Bible Study. We'll leave for the trail around 8:30 a.m.

Every person should bring leather gloves, water bottles, and if you have them, five-gallon buckets and any tools that will help you remove vegetation from the path of the new trail. Return time is estimated; boys can call their parents on the way home with an exact time.
